FEELS LIKE A NEW WOMAN

As Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Dispelled Backache, Headaches and Dizziness.

Piqua, Ohio.—"I would be very ungrateful if I failed to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound the praise it deserves, for I have taken it at different times and it always relieved me when other medicines failed, and when I hear a woman complain I always recommend it. Last winter I was attacked with a severe case of organic weakness. I had backache, pains in my hips and over my kidneys, headache, dizziness, lassitude, had no energy, limbs ached and I was always tired. I was hardly able to do my housework. I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound on one other occasion, and it had helped me so I took it again and it has built me up, until now I feel like a new woman. You have my hearty consent to use my name and testimonial in any way and I hope it will benefit suffering women."—Mrs. ORPHEA TURNER, 431 S. Wayne St., Piqua, Ohio.

Women who are suffering from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

They may cause vomiting, but this need cause no anxiety, because it is but a manifestation of their thorough work. No worms can long exist where these Powders are used.

At breakfast restless little Tommy began to play with the cruel steel. His father told him not to do so. Tommy persisted and at last upset it and spilled the pepper on the tablecloth. "Now, Tommy," said his father, "you were disobedient and upset the pepper canister, and I really ought to make the punishment fit the crime by putting some pepper on your tongue."

Tommy looked up in a flash and said: "Should I be punished the same way, dad, if I upset the sugar bowl?"

A school teacher complained to the principal the other day that one of the big boys was flirting outrageously with the music teacher, who came in once a day. The principal spoke severely to the class and ended by saying that out of consideration for the feelings of the culprit he would not name him in public. At the close of the session, however, he was to come to the principal's office for an interview.

Yes, you guessed it. All the boys in the class showed up.

Minard's Liniment Relieves Neuralgia.

An Irish farmer went into an iron-monger's shop to buy a scythe. After serving him, the shopmen asked him if he would like to buy a bicycle.

"What is that?" queried the Irishman.

"It's a machine to ride about the town on."

"And, shure, what might the price of it be?"

"Fifteen pounds."

"I'd rather see fifteen pounds in a cow."

"But what a fool you would look riding round the town on the back of a cow."

"Shure, now," replied the Irishman, "not half such a fool as I'd look trying to milk a bicycle!"—Pearson's.

"Here, waiter!" said the rude man in the cafe. "tell the orchestra to play 'Carmen' while I eat this beef-steak."

China's Peerless Iron Mine
China's famous iron mine, the Tayeh, the foremost in the far east, is especially notable for the ease with which it is worked. It stands peerless in the world in this respect, excavation requiring no machine power. The work is done by hand by the Chinese coolies. The mine is reputed to be inexhaustible in its ore. In the days of the "three kingdoms" the locality formed a theatre of bloody fighting, and the vicinity abounds in relics of that memorable period in Chinese history. It is about 3,630 Chinese miles from Peking overland and about 4,080 Chinese miles by water. Tayehhsien is traversed by ranges of hills and mountains, the valleys of which abound in innumerable lakes of all sizes, with water course facilities. Consequently the locality is rich in scenery of great beauty, and the Chinese poets of olden times have never tired of singing of the "eight views" of Tayeh. In the neighborhood of the Tayeh iron mine are found the ruins of ancient iron foundries, probably 1,000 years old. Millions of tons of slag lie in heaps.

NEW STRENGTH IN THE SPRING

Nature Needs Aid in Making New Health Giving Blood

In the spring the system needs a tonic. To be healthy you must have new blood just as the trees must have new sap to renew their vitality. Nature demands it, and without this new blood you will feel weak and languid. You may have twinges of rheumatism or the sharp, stabbing pains of neuralgia. Often there are disfiguring pimples or eruptions on the skin. In other cases there is merely a feeling of tiredness and a variable appetite. Any of these are signs that the blood is out of order—that the indoor life of winter has lessened your vitality. What you need in spring is a tonic medicine to put you right, and in all the world of medicine there is no tonic equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These Pills actually make new, rich, red blood—your greatest need in spring. This new blood drives out the seeds of disease and makes easily tired men, women and children bright, active and strong. Mrs. Geo. Burns, Albany, P.E.I., writes: "I was terribly run down and so weak that I could hardly drag myself around. I was so nervous that I was afraid to walk across the floor for fear I would fall. Our family doctor treated me but without success and finally I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Gradually they brought me back to good health and now I am as well as ever I was and have every confidence in recommending these Pills to other sufferers."

These Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or can be had by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Consenting Silence

"Do you believe that silence gives consent, Dubble?" asked Gosling.

MUNICIPALITY OF MOUNTAIN VIEW

WEEDS

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN to the farmers of Mountain View Municipality that the Weed Act will be STRICTLY enforced during 1914. It has been noticed that weeds have been abnormally spreading year by year, and in order to check their growth or exterminate them, drastic measures must be taken in the public interest to check or eradicate them. Those who have weeds upon their land should plan before seeding the best way of freeing their land from them. Either summer-fallow or sow for green feed with the intention of cutting before the weed seed can ripen. If it is found that weeds are in your crop grown for grain you may expect to be compelled to hand pull them. It would be considered a favor if every farmer would send an unsigned postal card to the Secretary stating thereon the quarter sections in his neighborhood where he knows weeds are prevalent and also state the kind of weeds.

BY ORDER OF THE COUNCIL.

GOPHER BOUNTY

The council will not furnish poison this year.

M. McLean	H. E. Pearson	J. W. Bridge
J. G. Dougherty	A. A. Dyck	W. Rupp
C. I. Dickau	Harry Gibson	Chas. Deadrich

J. W. Francis	B. Roselbargo	Sam Cummins
Abe Smalley	D. McCuen	W. E. Flinn

Those who wish to obtain the 1½ cent bounty must produce the gopher tails to any of the above men not later than the 15th day of May.

BY ORDER OF THE COUNCIL,

J. E. STAUFFER, Secretary.

A Successful Year
In the Evan.
Church

Splendid work has been done by the Evangelical church of this place during the past conference year. Increased results in finances and otherwise are shown on its statistical reports of every branch of the work.

During the past five months thirty-four new members, of which nineteen are heads of families, were received into church fellowship.

The three prayer meetings on the mission as well as the Young Peoples Alliance meetings are profitably helpful and fairly well attended.

The three Sunday schools also are doing acceptable work.

The financial records of the various branches of work show the following monies raised for various purposes: Home missions $321.85, Foreign missions $255.30, Total for missions $577.15, and a grand total for all purposes of $2,614.00.

All local claims are paid up to date with money in the treasury.

Owing to this acceptable financial report the conference in its recent consideration of facts saw fit to place to the credit of Didsbury mission the distinction of recording it at this time as an established self supporting circuit.

Annual Meeting
Didsbury Band

The annual meeting of the executive and officers of the Didsbury Band and Orchestra was held on Friday night last in the Fire Hall, and while there was not a large turnout of officers and members those who were there got down to business and discussed the year's work.

President H. B. Atkins in the chair, Secretary-Treasurer A. Z. Weber, H. E. Osmond, Ed. Weber, Ed. Fisher, Ed. Perschbacher, J. R. Good present.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted.

A. Z. Weber, Sec.-Treasurer, then gave the following summary of the financial conditions of the organizations up to April 24th, 1914:

EXPENDITURES

Expenditures on uniforms
music, etc. . . . .	$413.41
Due on uniforms . . . .	63.25
Due for tuition . . . . .	233.25
	$709.91

RECEIPTS

Receipts for concerts and engagements, etc. . . . .	$434.57
Due by Agricultural Society	25.00
Balance in Bank . . . . .	21.16
	480.73

Expenditures $709.91

Receipts 480.73

Deficit 229.18

The election of officers for the year 1914 was then taken up and resulted as follows:

President—Mayor H. B. Atkins
1st Vice-President—H. E. Osmond
2nd " W. G. Liesemer

Hon. Vice President—B. A. St. Clair
" " Principal Reid
" " J. M. Hysmith

Secretary-Treasurer—A. Z. Weber
Executive Committee—E. Perschbacher, E. Fisher, E. Weber, J. Pirie, F. Kauffman, D. Knapp and the officers of the organization.

The question of the deficit was then taken up and ways and means discussed as to clearing it off. As will be seen by the financial report nearly the whole of this deficit is owing to Conductor Gathercole for salary, and it seemed unfair to those present that this should be the case when he had given his best efforts towards the present efficiency of both organizations.

It was felt that as conditions exist at present in the business community that it would be unfair to ask for donations from the merchants and that some general form of assistance should be asked for from the whole town. Finally a committee composed of W. G. Liesemer, Principal Reid, J. Pirie and A. Z. Weber should attend the next Council meeting and discuss the matter with the Council.

It has been reported, on what authority is not known, that the Didsbury Opera House is unsafe. The Ladies' Aid of the Presbyterian church, who are giving an entertainment on Wednesday evening, May 16th, appointed a committee of four men—Messrs. W. G. Liesemer, S. R. Wood, G. B. Sexsmith and Rev. D. H. Marshall—to inspect the building and report their opinion as to its safety. The committee have discharged their duty and report the building as being perfectly safe, the foundations and walls, excepting the veneer brick wall at the south side, which does not affect the main wall, being in good condition, and the centre of the floor being supported by large pillars. It ought to aid in restoring confidence in this our only public hall except the school to remind the public that on several occasions, notably the afternoon and evening of the 48th Highlanders band concerts when the hall was packed to its utmost capacity, and also that Mayor Atkins stated publicly in the Presbyterian church a year ago last Xmas, that in his opinion and that of others, who with him examined the Opera House at that time, the hall was quite safe and that he still holds the same opinion.

way of making it easier for the rate payers but when it was considered that that the town loses something like $9,500 assessment on lands taken out of the municipality within the last year, and the loss of hotel license fees and restrictions in regard to the rate allowed to be levied for school purposes on the outside parts of the school district, nothing less than last year's assessment would do, and that a business and professional tax would also have to be imposed to raise enough revenue to conduct the ordinary affairs of the town.

They were a tired bunch when they got through, and the life of a Councillor in these piping times of peace is not to be envied at this time of the year, especially under existing conditions.

A Better Remedy Than Nasty Salts

Few people like to take physic, especially salts, because they are so disagreeable to take and because of the griping and pains they cause. Rexall Orderlies enable you to take less physic, and all without griping, purging or excessive looseness. Salts and harsh physics usually give only temporary relief and often leave the bowels worse off than before.

Rexall Orderlies move the bowels promptly, and soothe, tone and strengthen the intestinal muscles leaving them healthy and regular in action. They taste like candy, and the movement they cause is as easy and natural as though your bowels were in perfect health and you never had to take any physic at all. We have so much faith in Rexall Orderlies that we urge you to try them with the understanding that, if they do not satisfy you in every way, all you have to do to get your money back is to tell us. We honestly believe them to be the best bowel remedy made. In vest pocket tin boxes; 10c, 25c, 50c.

You can buy Rexall Orderlies only at The Rexall Stores, and in this town only of us H. W. Chambers, Didsbury.

Assessment Matters

The Town Council held a special meeting on Monday night to go over the assessment roll and to verify the assessor's figures on rateable property for this year. All were present except Coun. Stark.

These meetings every year are a great experience in finance to those who are on the Council, more especially so since the single tax and the new municipal act was put into force, and it is unfortunate that the whole of the ratepayers could not attend these meetings to see and hear why and how it is that the town daddies are getting prematurely old and grey headed before their time and without any remuneration for it whatever besides the blessings (or otherwise) showered on their devoted heads when the ratepayers receive their assessment notices.

The assessments were left practically the same as last year with the exception that some small acreage within the town limits were raised slightly. The Council tried to figure out some

THE WINDOW AT THE WHITE CAT

The other party came within range of vision. It was Davidson.

"All there were, Mr. Schwartz," he replied. "We were nearly finished before the woman made a bolt." He held out a small object on the palm of his hand.

"I would rather have done it alone, Mr. Schwartz," he said. "I found this ring in Brigg's pocket this morning. It belongs to the girl."

Schwartz swore and, picking up the ring, held it to the light. Then he made an angry motion to throw it out of the window, but slid it into his vest pocket instead.

"You're poor stuff, Davidson," he said, with a snarl. "If she hasn't got them, then Wardrop has. Tell McFeely I want to see him."

Davidson left, for I heard the door close. Schwartz held the ring to the light. I looked at my watch. The time was almost up.

A fresh burst of noise came from below. I leaned out cautiously and looked down at the lower windows; they were still closed and shuttered. When I raised my eyes again to the level of the room across, I was amazed to see a second figure in the room—a woman at that.

Schwartz had not seen her. He stood with his back to her, looking at the ring in his hand. The woman had thrown her veil back, but I could see nothing of her face as she stood. She looked small beside Schwartz's towering height, and she wore black.

She must have said something just then very quietly, for Schwartz suddenly wheeled on her. I had a clear view of him, and if ever guilt, rage and white-lipped fear showed on a man's face it showed on his. He replied—a half dozen words in a low tone and made a motion to offer her a chair. She paid no attention.

I have no idea how long a time they talked. The fresh outburst of noise below made it impossible to hear what they said, and always there was the maddening fact that I could not see her face. I thought of Mrs. Fleming, but this woman seemed younger and more slender. Schwartz was arguing, I imagined, but she stood immobile, scornful, watching him. She seemed to have made a request, and the man's evasions moved her no whit.

It may have been only two or three minutes, but it seemed long. Schwartz had given up the argument, whatever it was, and my pointing out the window I supposed he was telling her he had thrown what she wanted out there. Even then she did not turn toward me. I could not see even her profile.

What happened next was so unexpected that it remains little more than a picture in my mind. The man threw out his hands as if to show he could not or would not accede to her request. He was flushed with rage, and even at that distance the ugly scar on the forehead stood out like a welt. The next moment I saw

HAIR CAME OUT BY HANDFULS

With Dandruff and Itching Scalp. Scalp Covered with Small Pimples. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Now No Trouble At All.

593 Jane St., Toronto, Ont.—"I was first troubled with my hair getting brittle and later dandruff and itching scalp. I was afraid to comb my hair as it came out by handfuls and the itching was so severe I was miserable. The trouble kept me from sleeping. My scalp was covered with small pimples which seemed to run into one another and form a scab. The dandruff was so bad I was afraid to comb my hair as it made it show so plainly. It looked very badly. I was thinking of having my head shaved."

"For a long time I tried—and several other remedies but they did not cure it. After some months I picked up a paper with the Cuticura Soap and Ointment advertisement and sent right away for a sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. On using just the sample my trouble was better. I used six or eight boxes of the Cuticura Ointment also the Cuticura Soap and my scalp healed, the itching stopped and my hair came in quite thick and now I have no trouble at all." (Signed) Mrs. H. Ringer, May 27, 1913.

It costs nothing to learn how pure, sweet, effective and satisfying Cuticura Soap and Ointment are in the treatment of poor complexion, red, rough hands, itching scalp, dandruff, dry, thin and falling hair, because you need not buy them until you try them. ## PRESIDENT SUSPENDER the woman raise her right hand with something in it.

"I yelled to Schwartz to warn him, but he had already seen the revolver. As he struck her hand aside the explosion came. I saw her stagger, clutch at a chair and fall backward beyond my range of vision."

Then the light went out, and I was staring at a black brick wall.

I fell rather than ran down to the door below and got to the street. I found the gate to the White Cat without trouble. The inner gate was locked, as Burton had said he would leave it, and from the steps of the club I could hear laughter and the refrain of a popular song.

Burton was there in the kitchen, with two other men whom I did not recognize, each one holding a stein of beer. Burton had two, and he held one out to me as I stood trying to get my breath.

"You win," he said. "Although I'm a hard working journalist and need the money, I won't lie. This is Osborne of the Star and McTighe of the Eagle, Mr. Knox. They heard the shot in there, and if I hadn't told the story there would have been a panic. What's the matter with you?"

"For God's sake, Burton," I panted, "lets get upstairs quietly. I didn't fire any shot. There's a woman dead up there!"

With characteristic poise the three reporters took the situation quietly. We filed through the grillroom as cautiously as we could. With the door closed, however, we threw caution aside. I led the way up the stairs to the room where I had found Fleming's body and where I expected to find another.

On the landing at the top of the stairs I came face to face with Davidson, the detective, and behind him Judge McFeely. Davidson was trying to open the door of the room where Fleming had been shot, with a skeleton key. But it was bolted inside. When I had got the door open and had not felt Schwartz's heavy hand at my throat I drew a long breath of relief. Burton found the electric light switch and turned it on. And then—I could hardly believe my senses. The room was empty. But I picked up a small nickel plated revolver from the floor.

Burton, after all, was the quickest witted of the lot. He threw open one of the two doors in the room, revealing a shallow closet with papered walls and a row of hooks. The other door stuck tight. One of the men pointed to the floor. A bit of black cloth had wedged it from the other side. Our combined efforts got it open at last, and we crowded in the doorway, looking down a flight of stairs.

Huddled just below us, her head at our feet, was the body of the missing woman.

"My God," Burton said hoarsely, "who is it?"

We got her into the room and on the couch before I knew her. Her fair hair had fallen loose over her face, and one long, thin hand clutched still at the bosom of her gown. It was Ellen Butler.

"She's got about an hour, I should say," said one of the newspaper men. "See if Gray is around, will you, Jim? He's mostly here Saturday night."

Whatever surprise Gray may have felt at seeing a woman there, and dying, he made no comment. He said she might live six hours, but the end was certain. We got a hospital ambulance, and with the clang of its bell as it turned the corner and hurried away the White Cat drops out of this story, so far as action is concerned.

Three detectives and as many reporters hunted Schwartz all of that night and the next day to get his story. But he remained in hiding. Even in her agony Ellen Butler's hate had carried her through the doorway after him, to collapse on the stairs. I took a car and rode to the hospital. A night watchman in felt shoes admitted me and took me upstairs.

The cover was drawn up to the injured woman's chin, where it was folded neatly back. Her face was bloodless, and her fair hair had been gathered up in a shaggy knot. She was breathing slowly, but regularly, and her expression was relaxed—more restful than I had ever seen it. As I stood at the foot of the bed and looked down at her I knew that as surely as death was coming it would be welcome.

Edith and Fred were there. As he sat there beside the bed I knew by his face that he was repeating and repeating every unkind word he had said about Ellen Butler. Once she asked for water without opening her eyes, and Fred slipped a bit of ice between her white lips. Later in the night she looked up for an instant at me.

"He struck my hand," she said, with difficulty.

By morning she was rallying a little from the shock. I got Fred to take Edith home, and I took her place by the bed.

I hoped to get some sort of statement before the injured woman was taken to the operating room, but she lay in a stupor, and I had to give up the idea. It was two days before I got her disposition, and in that time I had learned many things.

On Monday I took Margery to Bellwood. She had received the news about Mrs. Butler more calmly than I had expected.

"I do not think she was quite sane, poor woman," she said, with a shudder. "She had received the news with a great deal of trouble. But how strange—a murder and an attempt at murder—at that little hub in a week!"

She did not connect the two, and I let the thing rest at that. Once on the train she asked, "Don't you think that she had a sort of homicidal mania and that she tried to kill me with chloroform?"

"I hardly think so," I returned evasively. "I am inclined to think some one actually got in over the porch roof."

"It is very comforting to have a friend one can rely on," she said, and the little bit of kindness went to my head. If she had not got a cluder in her eye at that psychological moment I'm afraid I would figuratively have trampled Wardrop underfoot right there."

We found Miss Letitia in the lower hall and Hepple on her knees with a hatchet. Between them sat a packing box.

"Here, give it to me," Miss Letitia demanded as we stopped in the doorway. "Like as not it's a mistake"—bang—"but the expressage was prepaid. If it's mineral water"—crash! Something broke inside.

CLEVER WIFE

Knew How to Keep Peace in Family

It is quite significant, the number of persons who get well of alarming heart trouble when they let up on tea and coffee and use Postum as the beverage at meals.

There is nothing surprising about it, however, because the harmful alkaloid—caffeine—in both tea and coffee is not present in Postum, which is made of clean, hard wheat.

"Two years ago I was having so much trouble with my heart," writes a lady in the west, "that at times I felt alarmed. My husband took me to a specialist to have my heart examined."

"The doctor said he could find no organic trouble but said my heart was irritable from something I had been accustomed to, and asked me to try and remember what disagreed with me."

"I remembered that coffee always soured on my stomach and caused me trouble from palpitation of the heart. So I stopped coffee and began to use Postum. I have had no further trouble since."

"A neighbor of ours, an old man, was so irritable from drinking coffee that his wife wanted him to drink Postum. This made him very angry, but his wife secured some Postum and made it carefully according to directions."

"He drank the Postum and did not know the difference, and is still using it to his lasting benefit. He tells his wife that the 'coffee' is better than it used to be, so she smiles with him and keeps peace in the family by serving Postum instead of coffee."

Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont.

Postum now comes in two forms: Regular Postum—must be well boiled, 15c and 25c packages.

Instant Postum—is a soluble powder. A teaspoonful dissolves quickly in a cup of hot water and, with cream and sugar, makes a delicious beverage instantly. 30c and 50c tins.

The cost per cup of both kinds is about the same.

In illustrations of the "dreary Glasgow Sunday," a lecturer told this story of the late J. L. Toole. He was leaving his hotel in Glasgow one fine Sunday morning, when the sun was shining brightly. As he was strolling along George Avenue a policeman eyed him suspiciously, and at last approached him and said:

"Ye had better tak' care what ye're doing."

"What am I doing?" inquired Toole, and added with a merry wink:

"Why, I'm not even whistling."

"No," replied the Glaswegian in solemn and reproving tones; "but ye're lookin' amouss as happy as if it were Monday."

Billy meditated; suddenly he remembered and beamed.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by Dr. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

There is no good reason why the church should not profit by newspaper advertising. If it has anything of special appeal to the non-churchgoers of the community, the columns of the press offer the best place for the announcement of the fact.—Ottawa Citizen.

"Fit" at Forty

Experience has shown that mental activity in man has reached its greatest heights between the age of forty and fifty. Some of the world's greatest masterpieces in literature, music, and art have been achieved by men bordering on the half century.

Physically, however, according to Sir Ernest Shackleton, "under thirty a man, no matter how keen and nippy, is still a man in the making. By thirty he has matured. Between thirty and forty he is at his best."

Sir Ernest himself is thirty-nine years of age, but with his mode of life he will probably remain physically, thirty-nine for many years to come.—Exchange.

Hogs on Concrete Floors

It is very likely to be injurious to brood sows to have to lie on concrete floors in their sleeping apartments. The concrete floor is all right, but it should be covered with boards. The best arrangement is to have the entire floor of concrete, then each pen provided with a removable wooden floor, made of inch boards, and by making this floor in two parts it can be readily lifted and the concrete thoroughly disinfected and cleaned out either at various seasons, or when occasion requires. Hogs lying on concrete are likely to get rheumatic. The concrete seems to draw the heat from the body of the resting animals and chills them through in a short time. This difficulty is overcome by the use of the wooden floor.—Breeder's Gazette.

THE SKIN TROUBLES OF CHILDHOOD

School Records Show Much Time Lost From Eczema

Chafing and skin irritation, whether from changing temperature, rough winds, strong soap or the action of the clothing, naturally develop into eczema, spread over the body and defy ordinary treatment.

Most doctors do not give much attention to skin diseases, and, consequently, it is necessary for parents to select some treatment which has proven a cure for such ailments. If records of cures count for anything, then you can turn to Dr. Chase's Ointment with fullest assurance that in this you will have the means of controlling itching skin diseases.

By affording prompt relief from the terrible itching, Dr. Chase's Ointment puts an end to suffering, and removes the cause of scratching. As the fires of eczema die away the ointment sets up the process of healing, and brings about thorough and lasting cure. As a treatment for the skin troubles of children nothing has ever proven so satisfactory as Dr. Chase's Ointment.

DEATH OF A FAMOUS INVENTOR

GEORGE WESTINGHOUSE WAS ONE OF THE GREATEST INVENTORS OF MODERN TIMES

Was the Man Who Revolutionized Modern Methods of Transportation—Also Designed the Air Brake, His Famous Invention Proving a Huge Success.

George Westinghouse, who died recently in New York, aged 88, was one of the greatest inventors of modern times, known all through the world as the inventor of the Westinghouse air brake and many other devices and appliances which have completely revolutionized modern methods of transportation, was born at Central Bridge, Schoharie county, New York, on October 6, 1846, the son of George and Emeline Vedder Westinghouse. His father's ancestors came from Germany and settled in Massachusetts and Vermont before the revolution. On his mother's side he came from Dutch-English stock.

The father of George Westinghouse was a mechanical engineer and an inventor of various mechanical appliances. In 1856 he removed to Schenectady, N.Y., where he established the Schenectady Agricultural Works. Young George received his early education in the public schools of Central Bridge and Schenectady and seemed to have inherited from his father not only love for mechanical science, but also inventive ability. He spent a great deal of his time in his father's factory and became thoroughly familiar with machinery and the mechanical principles upon which they were based. He was only fifteen years old when he made his first invention, a rotary engine, which he afterwards perfected.

As a young man he became interested in military matters and he became a member of the Twelfth Regiment of the New York National Guard. When the Civil War began he enlisted and served in the Sixteenth New York Cavalry from June 1863 until November, 1864, when he became an assistant engineer in the navy, serving on the Muscota and later in the Potomac fleet. After the close of the war he returned to Schenectady and entered Union College for a classical course.

Immediately after his return from the war young Westinghouse took up his mechanical work and studies and in the same year invented a device for placing derailed railroad cars upon the track. He remained in college only to his sophomore year and devoted himself entirely to his work in the machine shop. He was only twenty years of age when he invented the air brake. Going to Troy one day, a delay, caused by a collision between two freight trains, suggested to Mr. Westinghouse the idea that a brake under the control of the engineer might have prevented the accident.

In his first experiments, he attempted to use steam for working the brakes, but the plan was not feasible, as experience showed. An article on the employment of compressed air in drilling the Mont Cenis tunnel suggested to Westinghouse to try compressed air instead of steam in evolving the Westinghouse air brake in its original form. The first patent on his invention was issued April 13, 1869, and in the following year the Westinghouse Air Brake Company was organized. The inventor found it very difficult at first to introduce his invention. The railroads had little confidence in the possibility of stopping a train with "wind." Westinghouse among other railroad magnates approached Commodore Vanderbilt, but the latter broke off the interview by saying "I have no time to waste with fools."

Young Westinghouse did not lose his courage, however, and at last succeeded in obtaining the consent of the superintendent of the Steubenville division of the Pennsylvania railroad to test the air brake on a train of cars. The trial took place in October, 1869, and proved a brilliant success. In fact, the air brakes proved the means of preventing a serious collision during the test. After that Mr. Westinghouse had no difficulty in obtaining hearings from railroad officials, and in a few years his air brake was introduced by the railroads throughout the country.

Mr. Westinghouse continued to improve his brake, and also made other inventions in railway signals, steam and gas engines, steam turbines, and electrical machinery. He was the pioneer in introducing alternating current machinery in America, which made possible the electrical transmission of water power. He established large works in the United States, England, France and Germany for the manufacture of air brakes and electrical machinery, and became the head of corporations representing a capitalization of more than $100,000,000 and giving employment to more than 25,000 men. In recognition of his eminent services to science and industry, foreign governments conferred decorations upon him, scientific societies made him honorary member, and Union College conferred upon him the honorary degree of Ph.D. In August, 1887, he married Marguerite Erskine Walker in Brooklyn, who survives him, together with their only son, George Westinghouse, Jr.

MAY REPEL MARRIAGES

Warning Issued to Christian Women Who Wed Hindus or Mohammedans

The state department has issued public notice through the Canada Gazette and through despatches to the various provincial governments that marriages between women of British nationality, professing the Christian religion, and Moslems, Hindus and other persons belonging to countries where polygamy or concubinage is legal, should not be allowed unless these women are first warned that such marriages may be repudiated by the husbands if they return to the country of their birth. The influx of Hindus in British Columbia with the exclusion of their womankind, lends point to the warning.

The notice is given through the repetition of a circular received from the colonial office. This circular states that while the registrar of marriages has no power, according to British laws, to prevent such mixed marriages, care should be taken to make the position clear to every woman contemplating such union. It is pointed out that while the marriage would be valid as long as the husband remained in Canada it would not necessarily be valid if he returned to India or to his own Mohammedan country. Under the "personal" law, the Hindu may, if he desires, take other wives in addition to the first without consulting his Christian wife in any way. The forms observed at a marriage under British law are not necessarily recognized by Mohammedan law as giving any legal relationship and afford no protection to his wife in a country where Mohammedan law is observed. Where a marriage relationship is constituted which the Mohammedan law will recognize a Mohammedan husband may divorce his wife at will without any legal formality beyond that of repudiating her.

OWNERSHIP OF SPITZBERGEN

Scheme for International Control to Be Settled in June

Delegates from England, France, Holland, Germany, Denmark, Sweden, Russia and Norway will meet June 17 next to decide the status of Spitzbergen, those Arctic islands famous for the point of departure for many Arctic expeditions.

The congress is due to an invitation of the Norwegian government made five years ago. The powers which will be represented at Christiania next June are those which in the first instance signified their willingness to accept the Norwegian invitation. American participation is justified on the ground of the important coal mining interests in American hands. There are also four British companies engaged in the coal industry, which is the chief mineral exploited. The Germans possess an excellent meteorological and wireless telegraph station.

The problem of policing the islands has long been a pressing one, and this question has naturally formed the chief concern of the three northern powers, Norway, Sweden and Russia, who, by virtue of their special interests, have agreed to submit to the general conference a draft convention based upon a memorandum by the Norwegian government. By this agreement—if the original text is confirmed at the preliminary meeting on June 4—Spitzbergen is to be declared neutral territory open to all nations and under international control. The administration is to be in the hands of a commission composed of one representative for each of the three powers. The cost of administration is to be covered by land taxes and other taxes, which, however, are to be subject to the assent of all the signatory powers. Any deficit is to be charged to all the powers. It is proposed that the convention shall be renewable every eighteen years.

A Country of Young People

Census Bulletin XVIII, just issued, deals with the Ages of the People, and contains six tables in a pamphlet of 34 pages. The tables show that the largest proportions of young men and women are found in the western provinces. Thus whilst the proportion per 1,000 of the population between the ages of 20-44 for all Canada is 385, the figures for British Columbia are 533, for Alberta 458, for Saskatchewan 451 and for Manitoba 417. The proportion decreases eastward until in Prince Edward Island it is 311. That Canada is preeminently a country of young people is evidenced by the fact that 813 persons in every 1,000 of known age are under 45. In this result the large annual immigration is the controlling factor.

Paris Police Begin System of Reform

The Paris police have begun the introduction of a system of moral reform in the public resorts of the city. Celestin Hennion, the prefect of police, summoned the proprietors of all the music and dance halls and concert cafes to the prefecture, where he informed them that exhibitions of undressed performers would in future not be tolerated. It is understood that this regulation will not apply to theatres, on the ground that what otherwise might be regarded as decency is counteracted by the artistic value of the production.

Lobsters are now caught with a snag consisting of a circle of hooks hanging under a piece of bait.

GROWTH OF THE PEACE RIVER AREA

PRESIDENT OF THE NORTH TELLS WONDERFUL TALE OF THE RESOURCES OF THE NEW DISTRICT

H. Haskins Says the Development of the Peace River Country Within the Short Space of Three or Four Years Has Been Enormous and Civilization is Pushing Northward.

H. Haskins, who visited Victoria, B.C., recently from Pouce Coupe, in the Peace river country, gave an account of that district which is full of interest. On his way out to Edson recently, he met 400 settlers' teams going in. Hundreds more will be going in weekly by other routes, via Lesser Slave lake, and even by Pine Pass from Fort George.

Mr. Haskins himself has established a store at Dawson Creek, on the Pouce Coupe river, which runs into the Peace just to the east of the dividing line between B.C. and Alberta. He is in the big block surveyed and held by the Dominion government for settlers, which is being settled up rapidly. The country on both sides of the Pouce Coupe river is prairie to the extent of some 200,000 acres, and is already a name to conjure with among the intending immigrants from the Edmonton side.

The climate of this country seems to be delightful, both in summer and winter, and some idea of the short duration of snow will be gained from the fact that the snow was beginning to melt from the trail out even on March 1. This year the snow did not begin to lie until the middle of January. In the summer, the big brown mesquite is thick on human skin and animal hide for about a month, and following him comes the season of the no-see-ums, but it is by no means general to wear mosquito bar in the Pouce Coupe.

Agricultural Wealth

Grain and many varieties of vegetables grow in the utmost profusion, said Mr. Haskins, and there is an excellent market for everything that can be grown. Last season, Mr. Tromley, a settler, who has been on Dawson creek or the last eleven years, grew fifteen tons of potatoes, and then Mr. Haskins had to bring his supply from lower down the Peace, at Dunvegan. Barley, oats, onions, wheat, turnips—to mention a few things—all do exceedingly well, and large quantities of cereals were grown in the Peace district last season.

The development of this new country within the short space of three or four years has been enormous, and the settler who goes in now is by no means leaving civilization behind him. At Grande Prairie and Saskatchewan lake are a branch of the Bank of Commerce, a flour mill, sawmills and three stores, and another sawmill is to be established by Mr. Tromley on Dawson creek.

Another town which Mr. Haskins says is going ahead is that of Peace river crossing, where ranches within one mile of the river are selling for large sums, and where a fine hotel has been put up.

Transportation Facilities

Three railway companies with four lines are racing each other into the very heart of this country. The Dunvegan and Edmonton line now runs trains to the east end of the Lesser Slave Lake, and is surveyed to the Big Smoky river, where it will send a branch down to Peace River crossing and another to Grande Prairie and Dunvegan. The Canadian Northern plans another line along the north shore of Lesser Slave Lake, and has pushed up from the south to the McLeod river on its way to Grand Prairie, Pouce Coupe and beyond. Its surveys have been extended to Swan Lake, and must run, Mr. Haskins says up Dawson creek. From the west, the Pacific Great Eastern is surveyed to the east from Pine Pass. All these railways will be into this country three years from now, and its residents believe that huge fortunes await the man who goes in at once.

Settlers are already proving up on some homesteads and coming out. These men are ready to sell teams, machinery and so on, though, of course, the price in there is not cheap.

A Great Future

Mr. Haskins believes the country will have a great future in its stock, especially in pigs fattened on the peavine which grows so thick it is hard to force a way through it when on foot.

Prairie chickens and rabbits abound everywhere. Bears and moose are numerous, and good trapping is done there in the winter. Coyotes run but never seem to do any harm, possibly owing to the plentifulness of the rabbit.

Canada seems to be fully alive to the possibilities of this, her newest country. Large stockmen from the prairies were up looking over miles of country last summer. Lumbermen have their eyes upon the fine timber belts of the head of the Little Smoky river and other localities, and Mr. Haskins considers it would be a bold man who would prophesy the number of people that the end of the present summer will find located on the land there.

WANT BRITISH PICTURES

Lack of British Films in Canadian Movie Shows in Cause of Much Complaint

Several correspondents, writing from Canada to the Daily Mail, complain of the lack of patriotic energy on the part of the British film producers, which allows the Dominion to be flooded with moving pictures of American subjects.

One correspondent expresses the hope that the British army film which shows completely the life of Tommy Atkins will also be exhibited in the Dominion. He concluded his letter by declaring that this would certainly cause a more martial spirit in Canada as well as a strong imperial link.

Your correspondent is informed today that the army film will shortly be sent on a tour across Canada, and will also visit Australia. This tour will be under the auspices of the British war office, but the cost is being guaranteed privately.

Regarding the flood of American films in Canada crowding the market from British films, several London purchasers explained that they originally sold the entire rights to New York exchanges, and that these rights included Canada, but now the Dominion has become such a large field that none of these contracts are being renewed without a revision which retains for the British company alone the right to exhibit in Canada.

Several London production companies have lately been preparing special films for the Dominion. One of these was on the plains of Abraham and around Quebec. It is described as an accurate historic account of the British conquest of Canada.

Several others which have been taken in the Rocky Mountains with an English company will be released in about a month.

"Even apart from patriotic motives, we look upon Canada as a lucrative field, and another year should see a score of English producers with Canadian agencies," declared one of the leading British directors whose name is a big one in the moving picture world.

Famous Winters in Paris

In Paris, the comparatively cold weather with which Europe has been favored during the past winter has led to much writing on the subject of famous winters. The fifteenth century might justly be called the cold century, says the Petit Journal.

In 1408 the registrars of the parliament of Paris reported that it was impossible to issue any of its resolutions, because the ink froze in the ink bottles of the clerks; every three words they had to thaw their pens, and this with a fire roaring in their room. Every river in France was frozen and not a mill could work. Twelve years later, in 1420, there was a repetition of this winter. Food-stuffs gave out and poor people died by tens of thousands.

In 1422 in less than three days the wine and the vinegar froze in the cellars; cocks and hens had their combs frozen; the streets were full of people who danced, jumped, wrestled and ran races, anything to keep off frostbite.

In 1430 it froze for more than two and a half months and the snow fell for 40 days without stopping. All the birds hidden in the trunks of trees died.

"In the year of the great winter," as 1603 was called, hundreds of persons died from cold; everything was frozen hard, even the bread served at the table of Henry IV. In 1709 all the wheat was destroyed and a new sowing had to be made in the spring. Buffon relates that no bread was to be had, even Mme. de Maintenon had to go without it.

In 1776 sentinels were found frozen to death outside Versailles, and the king put a stop to this service. In Paris great bonfires were lit in the streets. Bells were shivered into pieces as they rang; clocks stopped and in the cellars wine turned into ice. Hares and partridges came into the towns and hid themselves in the nooks and corners of houses, where they were subsequently found as stiff as a board and quite inedible.

RESOURCES OF SASKATCHEWAN

Parisian Publication to Bring Understanding of Conditions in the West

Under the title of "La Saskatchewan, Essai de Monographie Provinciale Canadienne," a volume of more than 100 pages, illustrated with maps and reproductions of photographs of Saskatchewan scenes, has been published in Paris, France, by Louis Gilbert, for the purpose of bringing to the French people accurate knowledge of conditions in Saskatchewan. The book has been published at the offices of "La Canadienne," a periodical which is devoted to the enlightenment of the French public upon Canadian affairs.

Information relative to the agricultural resources of Saskatchewan, to the wealth of the northern portion of the province in lumber, is contained in the volume, and all reliable recent statistics. Every phase of the business and social life of the province is dealt with. The handbook contains a number of views of Saskatoon and other Saskatchewan cities.

In the preface, M. Gilbert states that the greater part of the information to be found in the volume has been furnished by T. Cromie, the provincial statistician, and he expresses high appreciation of assistance which Mr. Cromie has given.

TELLS OF ESKIMO IN GREAT NORTHLAND

THEY HAVE SOME VERY GOOD QUALITIES, BUT THEIR MANNERS AND CUSTOMS ARE VERY CRUDE

Father Morice, Celebrated Scientist, and Special Professor in Anthropology to the University of Saskatchewan, Gives Some Interesting Information about Strange People.

Father Morice, the celebrated scientist and special professor in anthropology to the University of Saskatchewan, delivered the second of a series of lectures on the native races of America, recently in Convocation Hall. The lecture was about the Eskimos, the second lowest race in the social scale of Aborigines.

The Eskimaux are a most unique nation; an Arctic tribe entirely different from other peoples. Their territory is about 5,000 miles in length extending from Mt. Elias to Greenland. They call themselves, not Eskimaux, which signifies, "Eaters of Raw Meat," but "Innu," meaning men. In common with other primitive peoples they believe that in them is incarnated the very essence of humanity.

In winter the ice-boat of this wonderful race may be found as far north as ninety degrees. On account of their unique position they like what the white race abhors and vice versa. In New York with the temperature below zero an Eskimaux girl remarked that she felt rather warm and was glad that she had left in the north her usual fur garments.

The similarity in language of such a primitive people scattered so widely is remarkable. The ending "mut" which means the same as "fan" in Saskatchewan is universal with them.

Where They Are Found

There are three great divisions of the race: the west shore of Greenland, population 10,000, and Labrador, 13,298, the Aleuts 9,500 and the Uts 1,200, living both in Asia and America. In account of remarkable differences in physical characteristics many scientists consider them as not Indians. Their color is brown, features large and Mongolian, with small eyes and tapering bowl-shaped skull.

In habits the Eskimaux is very playful, honest in his own tribe, but an inveterate thief with strangers. It is no shame for him to steal provided he isn't discovered.

An interesting description illustrated by the Eskimaux drawings was given of the prevailing styles of dress. The only distinguishing feature between the sexes' apparel is that the women's garments are adorned with a long fur tail behind. Her hair is rather elaborately dressed and tattoo marks about mouth and eyes accentuate her natural beauty.

How They Live

The Eskimaux's means of existence is hunting, mostly seal, which is the chief economic factor, yielding garments, food and combustibles for light and cooking. The ingenious methods of baiting the wily animal were explained.

The kayak or Indian canoe, the summer essential of the Eskimaux hunter, is a most peculiar little craft absolutely unshrinkable. In the large boats the social order is clearly defined, first the man who acts as steersman, the stranger, the dogs and finally the women who ply the oars. The Eskimaux, judges Father Morice, here shows himself above the Indian in his use of oars and also of sails. Also his sleigh used in winter is superior, having runners, and his manner of hitching the dogs quite different from the ordinary Indian file. A most interesting, illustrated description was given of the Eskimaux snow huts or igloos. The central or living room is guarded from the elements by a series of entrances. The peculiar elevated beds in the northern home are heated by lamps of soapstone containing for fuel, blubber with wicks of moss. A white visitor at first could hardly bear the cold, but finally becomes most uncomfortably warm. He was rather amazed to find that the Eskimaux manner of adjusting body temperature was to remove the clothing completely, this primitive custom not being hampered by any sense of mock-modesty.

Contempt for Indian

The Eskimaux is by nature artistic and in bone carving far above the Indian. He considers other people as brothers, white or brown, but the Indian he holds in contempt and designates as the offspring of his vermin.

The reverend father concluded a very entertaining lecture with a story of a meeting in 1850 on the Mackenzie river of a small party of white men, a bunch of Eskimaux with arrows and fourteen Indians or children of Ltee, armed with guns. Influenced by the whites these two savage bodies engaged in trade. Afterwards the Eskimaux landed and were entertained at a dance. Being men only of course, the Father said, they did not tango. While the whites were warming themselves at a nearby campfire the treacherous Redskins literally massacred the trusting Eskimaux. Today, however, conditions have greatly improved.—Saskatoon Star.

Berlin is said to be the quietest city in Europe, if not the world. All unnecessary noises are prohibited.

A Real Nerve and Body-Building Medicine

We believe Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion is the best remedy made for toning the nerves, enriching the blood, building up wasted tissues, renewing health, strength and energy—the best medicine you can use if you are run-down, tired out, nervous and debilitated, no matter what the cause. It doesn't depend for its good effect upon alcohol or habit-forming drugs, because it contains none. It may not make you feel better in a few hours, but it will make you feel better, we are sure, just as soon as the tonic and food properties it contains have a chance to get into the blood and, through the blood, into the rest of the system. Pure Olive Oil and the Hypophosphites have long been endorsed by successful physicians, but here, for the first time, they are combined into one preparation which, as a nerve-food and a builder of strength and health, we believe, has no equal.

If you don't feel well, begin taking Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion today, and build your health and strengthen your system against more serious illness. To convalescents, old people, puny children and all others who are weak, run-down or ailing, we offer Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion with our personal promise that, if it doesn't make you well and strong again, it will cost you nothing. If we didn't have the utmost faith in it, we wouldn't offer it with this guarantee, nor even recommend it to you. We are sure that once you have used it you will recommend it to your friends, and thank us for having recommended it to you. Sold only at the more than 7,000 Rexall Stores, and in this town only by us. $1.00. H. W. Chambers, Didsbury.

Dairy Competition

Considerable interest is being taken in this district in the Dairy Competition which is being put on by the Department of Agriculture through the School of Agriculture, at Olds.

Any farmer living within 20 miles of Olds may enter cows in the competition and about $700.00 in live stock prizes are being offered. Both the quantity and quality of the milk will be taken into consideration, and the cow producing the best record will win for its owner the first prize, which will be a yearling bull. This animal may be selected from the Shorthorn, Ayrshire, Holstein or Jersey breeds. There are ten prizes in all offered for the competition, and there is considerable interest manifested in the contest.

Up to the present time, Principal Elliott has registered something like 60 cows in the competition, and others are coming in every day. Any cow freshening between the 1st of April and the first of June may be entered for the contest, and the Government will furnish scales and milk sheets free for those who wish to compete. Cows freshening before 1st of April will only have their records considered from that date, and the test will run for 240 days. Automatic scales are furnished for this work, and it is merely a matter of hanging the pail on the scale hook to get the weight registered accurately and promptly.

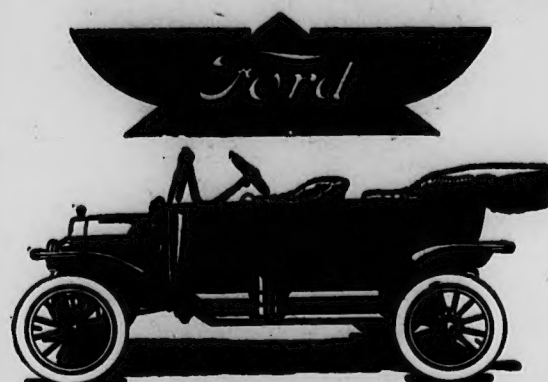

If there are any other farmers within 20 miles of Olds who would like to enter cows for the competition, if they will send their names to W. J. Elliott, Principal, School of Agriculture, Olds, he will be glad to call upon them with further particulars.

A Lesson in Morals

Mother—Now, Willie, you told me a falsehood. Do you know what happens to little boys who tell falsehoods?

Willie (sheepishly)—No, ma'am.

Mother—Why, a big black mark with only one eye in the centre of his forehead comes along and flies with him up to the moon and makes him pick sticks for the balance of his life. Now, you will never tell a falsehood again, will you? It is awfully wicked.—Puck.

On his eighty-fourth birthday Paul Smith, the veteran Adirondack hotel keeper, who started life as a guide and died owning a million dollars' worth of forest land, was talking about boundary disputes with an old friend.

"Didn't you hear of the lawsuit over a title that I had with Jones down in Malone last summer?" asked Paul.

The friend had not heard.

"Well," said Paul, "it was this way: I sat in the court room before the case opened with my witnesses around me. Jones bustled in, stopped, looked my witnesses over carefully, and said: 'Pul are those your witnesses?' 'They are,' said I. 'Then you win,' said he, 'I've had them witnesses twice myself.'"

THEN MISS J. M. GODIN USED DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

And Her Kidney Disease and Female Weakness Disappeared—She is Now a Strong, Healthy Woman.

Mizonette, Gloucester Co., N.B.—(Special)—"I have been suffering from the kidneys ever since I was a child," says Miss J. M. Godin of this place. "When I grew to womanhood I was told I was suffering from female weakness, so I tried several kinds of medicine, spending a good many dollars for nothing.

"Last winter I became so weak I was on the point of giving up my work. I could not sleep at night and could hardly get up the stairs without having palpitation of the heart and feeling quite exhausted.

"Reading of symptoms of Kidney Disease in Dodd's Almanac, I soon found out my case was similar, so I sent at once for four boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills. I began to feel a change at the very beginning, for I slept well the very first night. These four boxes did me more good than all the medicine I had taken before, and I have remained strong ever since. I am now as well as can be."

All women who suffer should look to the kidneys. They are the main-spring of health. Keep the kidneys strong by using Dodd's Kidney Pills and they will take care of the rest of the body.

"It did this time, sir," answered Jasper. "A man dropped a quarter down a hole in the sidewalk."

Time For a Change

Old Roxie!—"Marry my daughter? Why, you are supported by your father."

Suitor—"Yes, sir; but my gov'nor is tired of supporting me, he says, and I thought I'd get into another family."

As Ordered

The menu of a certain London restaurant is a thing of wonder to strangers. It contains several pages of various dishes, all classified, mostly with weird French names.

The country visitor eyed up and down, but could make nothing of it. And the waiter stood silently by his side. At last, in despair, the diner stabbed his finger in the middle of one page and said:

"Bring me some o' that."

"Oul, m'sieu!" replied the waiter. "That es mayonnaise dressing, sar."

"I know that, my man," snorted the countryman. "I can read!"

"But, m'sieu," said the waiter apologetically, "what will you have it on?"

The diner glared. "On a plate of course, you idiot!" he roared. "Do you feed your guests in troughs at this restaurant?"—Top-Notch.

"Up With the Boys"

He was a jolly rounder and He'd drink and make a noise; Most every night with great delight He'd stay up with the boys.

Now he's the father of male twins, They've robbed him of his joys; And every night till broad daylight He stays up with the boys.

Painful Swelling Reduced Muscular Strains Ended

Such Troubles Now Quickly Rubbed Away by Powerful Remedy

If you have any muscles that are strained and weak, that are frequently subject to rheumatic pains; if you have any painful swellings that refuse to go away—get busy with Nerviline. This is the very sort of trouble that Nerviline is noted for curing quickly. "I have proved Nerviline simply a wonder in reducing a hard, painful swelling. It followed an injury I received in my left leg and caused me great pain and discomfort. The muscles were strained and sore, and no other remedy gave the ease and comfort I got from rubbing on Nerviline. There is a soothing, pain-relieving power about Nerviline that touched the root of my trouble. Nerviline reduced the swelling, it destroyed the pain, it brought my limb back to perfect condition." The experience of Mr. Bowen, whose home is in Middesex, is not unusual. Thousands are proving every day that muscular pains of every kind, chronic rheumatism, lumbago, neuralgia and sciatica will yield to Nerviline when nothing else can possibly cure. Nerviline is an old time family pain remedy, used nearly forty years, with great success. The large family size bottle costs 50c., trial size 25c. at all dealers.

The Origin of a Fad

Marcella, who had been gazing out of the window, suddenly began to laugh hysterically.

"What in the world is the matter, child?" asked her mother.

"When I finished my carpet rug," Marcella explained, "I folded it across my lap and carried it that way down the street to show it to Rosemary."

"Well, what of it?"

"That was only three days ago," gasped Marcella, with a renewed outburst of merriment, "and now nearly every girl in the block is wearing a carpet-rug muff."

Only Just Beginning

Vice-President Bury of the Canadian Pacific, says that from harvest to the close of navigation last season the C.P.R. carried more grain than any other railway in any other part of the world has ever carried in the time, and that, although last season the Canadian West produced 510,000,000 bushels of all kinds, the land has "hardly been scratched." These are the kind of things people are apt to forget when they imagine that there can be any lengthy depression in Canada. Neither our land nor our resources are worn out. We are only just beginning to tap them.—Montreal Herald and Telegraph.

The superintendent of a Sunday school was illustrating for the children the text, "Arise and take the young child and his mother, and flee into Egypt." Showing them a large picture, she asked:

"Now, isn't that splendid? Here is the mother. Here is the young child. There's Egypt in the distance."

The children, however, looked disappointed, and finally a little boy piped out:

"Teacher, where's the flea?"

Two boys who managed to be rather unruly in school so exasperated their teacher that she requested them to remain after hours and write their names 1,000 times. They plunged into the task. Some fifteen minutes later one of them grew uneasy and began watching his companion in disgrace. Suddenly the first one burst out with despair between his sobs and said to the teacher:

"Tain't fair, mum! His name's Bush and mine's Schluttermeyer."

Bert Owen, who lives on the old Jesse Baker farm, had the misfortune of losing a valuable mare on Sunday morning last under rather peculiar circumstances. It seems there is an open well inside one of the barns and the mare broke open the door of the barn and went inside with the result that she fell down the well which is about twenty feet deep. Some of the neighbors were called on for assistance to try and get her out but it was found impossible, and the mare died as stated above.
